

No Defense PFAS Symposium

The University of West Florida is hosting the No Defense PFAS Symposium on October 25-26, 2023. This symposium is an interdisciplinary experience that explores the impacts of and creates awareness around PFAS, a “forever chemical” found in many commonly used products.

The symposium includes the screening of the “No Defense” documentary film followed by a panel discussion on Wednesday and discussions with experts on Thursday. It is a featured event during UWF’s Research Week. Opportunities for sponsoring this important educational event are listed below.
