

The Benefits of Follett ACCESS

- Lower pricing on “required” course materials
- Access to course materials by the start of classes
- Correct course materials are delivered as part of a student’s tuition and fees and provided electronically (digital content).

FAQs

How does Follett ACCESS work?

The Follett ACCESS program allows for all the course materials for a class to be included within tuition as a course materials charge. Once you have selected your courses, for those that are part of the Follett ACCESS program, your course materials will be automatically provisioned for you.

Will I save money?

Yes! Course materials are provided at a discounted price.

How do I get my course materials?

For courses that are part of the Follett ACCESS program, you will have seamless access within your UWF Canvas account. Getting required course materials for classes which are included in this program is as easy as 1, 2, 3!

1. Visit UWFShop.com and click on textbooks. Search for your books. (Required materials will be digital and codeless.)
2. Select to rent or purchase digital. (Cut your costs when you rent your textbooks.)
3. Get access to your books once the course is available in your Canvas account!

What if I add or drop a course?

If you drop a course, no action is needed, this will be processed automatically. If you add a new course that is part of the program, access will be granted once the course is available in your Canvas account. If you add a course that is not part of the program, follow the steps above to procure your required items.

If my professor has recommended course materials, will those be included in the program?

Only course materials identified by your professor as “required” are included as part of the program and in digital format. All “recommended” materials will be available for purchase at the UWF Bookstore and UWFShop.com.

What are students saying about Follett ACCESS? Students at other campuses who have participated in a similar program love the convenience and ease of accessing their course materials...and being ready for classes on day one!
