A Spirit of Lifelong Learning and Discovery: Bodacious Shops

BY HEATHER LEBLANC

UWF Leisure Learning celebrates The Bodacious Family of Shops and their unwavering commitment to lifelong learning and community enrichment. Located in the heart of downtown Pensacola, Bodacious is more than a collection of vibrant shops but a hub for connection, curiosity, generosity and lifelong learning.

Many of our members have experienced firsthand the inviting spaces inside Bodacious Shops, the Studer Community Institute, Oyster Bay Boutique Hotel, Bubba's Sweet Spot and the Blue Wahoos Stadium. These spaces have become treasured venues for class—and some of the first to fill each semester for good reason! From food and wine classes to business workshops and cultural tours, each experience is enriched by the welcoming atmosphere and thoughtful hospitality that defines the Bodacious brand.

This spirit of lifelong learning is a shared mission of Leisure Learning and Bodacious. Quint and Rishy Studer, owners of Bodacious, have long believed in investing in Pensacola's future through education, leadership and revitalization. Through the Studer Community Institute and other local ventures, they've helped elevate downtown into a thriving center of learning, innovation and engagement. The Bodacious Shops themselves, including a cafe, olive oil and vinegar shop, coffee roastery and kitchenware store, are built to spark joy and foster community, often as a backdrop for hands-on learning and shared discovery.

"The Studers became involved in Leisure Learning more than a decade ago and have enhanced our program with their generosity and kindness," said Dr. Louise Tolbert, Leisure Learning Curriculum Committee member. "They have provided us with classroom space, offered us the use of their employees to teach classes and even suggested classes. There is no end to their involvement and assistance; we are so grateful to them."

"We believe in this community and getting people downtown, showing them what's available and exposing them to things they may not do on their own, and this is where you come in with Leisure Learning," said Rishy Studer. "You expose them to places like our shop where they might never go. And, we just think that it's a fine program and doing its best for the seniors and the community at large."

This is just one example of a community partner that supports Leisure Learning participants to explore new places, try new things and continue their personal growth in environments that encourage connection and creativity.

"I appreciate the support of Leisure Learning from the Studers and the employees of their businesses, said Julie Still-Rolin, Leisure Learning program Director, "They are willing to help our program in any way."

Looking to get involved? Leisure Learning always seeks opportunities to expand class offerings and welcomes ideas for new classes and locations. Whether you're a local business or ready to discover something new, there is a place for you in our lifelong learning community, thanks in part to our volunteers and community partners.

A NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR

The Spring term certainly came with its fair share of challenges—from the “Snowmageddon” to unexpected elevator issues—but together, we navigated them all. I truly appreciate your patience, flexibility and understanding as we made adjustments along the way.

Despite these hurdles, I believe we had a fantastic term filled with engaging, thought-provoking and fun classes.

Some personal highlights for me included the Disney Insights class, where we got a behind-the-scenes look at the magic, and our visit to the Archaeology Institute, which offered a fascinating glimpse into our past. Of course, there were so many incredible experiences that it’s impossible to name them all, and I am beyond grateful for the dedicated volunteers who make every class and event so special. Their passion, knowledge and generosity are what truly make this program shine.

Sadly, we also experienced a great loss with the passing of Bob Robinson. Bob had been with us from the very beginning and was the heart and soul of our Current Affairs Discussions. His thoughtful insights, sharp wit and dedication to lifelong learning will be deeply missed.

Looking ahead to Summer, we have an exciting lineup of experiences waiting for you! We’ll cheer on the Blue Wahoos at the ballpark, explore a farm in McDavid and return to many of your favorite destinations. Plus, we have an array of fascinating presentations lined up that are sure to spark curiosity and conversation.

I can’t wait to see you all this Summer for another season of learning, laughter and adventure!

Sincerely,

Julie Still-Rolin
